Installation instructions available at advances in diagnosing and managing patients with ankylosing spondylitis]. In ankylosing spondylitis, the major biological manifestations include inflammatory changes in the spine and sacroiliac joints. The American Spondylitis Association Classification (ASAS) revised the 1984 Spondylitis Association Research

Society (ASAS-R) criteria for the diagnosis of ankylosing spondylitis and demonstrated the importance of use of the Bath Ankylosing Spondylitis Disease Activity Index (BASDAI).

An analysis of the clinical and laboratory data at the time of diagnosis is important in making the correct diagnosis of ankylosing spondylitis, and also in choosing the appropriate treatment. The modified New York criteria (NYC) were developed based on the data obtained from other studies.

Several studies have shown that new imaging techniques, such as magnetic resonance imaging, are useful in diagnosing ankylosing spondylitis, while some immunosuppressive agents are effective for treatment of ankylosing spondylitis.
