I am trying to get an idea about power consumption of Raspberry Pi 3 vs. Raspberry Pi 2 to form an opinion about which board to purchase based on this criteria. A: The Raspberry Pi 3 is over 30% faster than the Pi 2 but consumes more power. This is due to a faster processor which runs at a faster clock speed. A: Api's own specs for the Raspberry Pi 3's power consumption is significantly higher than its predecessor. According to the site, it is around 45 mW, which is about a 30% increase over the Pi 2. Hope this helps. 1. Technical Field The present disclosure relates to an in-wall type wire-embedding device. 2. Description of Related Art Common in-wall type wire-embedding devices usually include: a housing, a terminal seat, and a terminal seat cover. The terminal seat covers an inside wall of the housing, and a contact terminal is received in a first hole in the terminal seat. The contact terminal is connectable to a power source through the in-wall type wire-embedding device. A slot through which the contact terminal is in communication with the first hole of the terminal seat is defined in the housing and communicates with the inside wall. The d0c515b9f4
