"Shophe Keep is an immensely enjoyable addictive retro / 3D casual game / shopping simulator / RPG / permadeath / platformer / adventure game. You're a Shoppe Keep trainer in training, stuck inside a creepy dollhouse / parlour or whatever this place actually is. Keep up your classes as you help shoppers get what they want, from hardware to widgets to double double waffles to the all important crystals for their next big upgrade. Spoilers: there is a buttload of them and they're all super cool, a good number of which are totally optional and therefore totally optional, there are some secret paths too. But, you have to know where to look. Of course, it's mostly all about the shopping! Shoppe Keep features wonderful retro graphics with contemporary gameplay, a unique tone, a music production to make grown adults cry, some genuinely astounding voice acting, and an overall production that is the best and cheapest you'll find this side of a shower curtain. The game was completely created by me and I fully support the purchase of this game with your credit card at www.j-ammel.com" System Requirements OS: Windows 10/ 8/ 7 (I haven't tested on Vista/ XP / Linux) CPU: Dual Core / more GPU: NVIDIA GTX 580 (nVidia G80 / G82) or AMD HD7770 (RADEON HD7050) or more RAM: 8GB recommended (9GB the best) HD: 20GB recommended (25GB the best) Software: Microsoft Visual C++ 2013 Express(or older(or latest), preferably Windows SDK, or Visual Studio Express 2013 for desktop applications) Sound card: Do yourself a favour and buy a sound card. Then, you're not at the mercy of your computer speakers and you get to enjoy a much bigger, badder music. I've tested the game with and without and the game is better with a sound card. Other: While this game is available on Steam and the Windows Store, I haven't tested them and have no idea how they work. Help Wanted: Become a long-term part of the Shoppe Keep team in game development. Yes, we're going to keep releasing more cool content for this game in the coming years. We need more animators, a programmer and a bunch of other people to help in developing the games and making things happen! Steam:

"The game is based on a WWII battle to liberate the Poland's capital city. A young man whose parents were killed at the time, becomes a courier of resistance, carrying a letter from ex-dictator to his agents - if he arrives and delivers it in time. Defeating guards is the first step, though, and then they will do anything to get the letter. You will have to survive, as - remember those who died - Soviet troops arrive for final assault and close the gates to the city. You will have to decide what sort of commander you want to be - man of honor, or a traitorous agent - somebody who will sacrifice innocent women and children to leave the enemies without a way out. Vinyl LP by Trentemøller More and more hackers are coming together to build walled gardens, which restrict the flow of information. HackNet by: Jordan B Shifrin Labyrinth : A HackNet Detour Official Soundtrack Vinyl LP by Trentemøller Every short-form media channel faces the problem of time. Well, perhaps not every channel - it might be too little attention for even an elephant would have a tough time pulling in everyone's sights and ears - but sometimes a short-form channel can go years or months with only a handful of viewers and not so many people listening. And while we are preoccupied with beating each other over the head with 140-character opinion bulletins the big media structure is slowly unraveling, maintaining enough ad revenue to keep the lights on. And that's why, in this uncertain and cash-strapped environment, a few short-form channels have found they're more valuable than ads. They're playing it safe. They've frozen content, set mysterious release windows, and heavily vetted their content. They've become more compliant with the government's demands, more Facebook-y. Labyrinth is the latest free music subscription community where registered users can select tracks they'd like to listen to when they download the software. Free If On A Winter's Night, Four Travelers - Supporter Pack With Key [Win/Mac]

Black Forest is a strategy game set in the Black Forest in medieval Germany. The only way to survive the day-night cycle, the depredations of wildlife, and the monsters in the forests is to build a village, protect it against the wilderness and harvest the crops. The village is the key to the survival of your people, your goals are to protect it and increase its productivity. Everything you do, every decision you make, will affect both the wellbeing of the village and the quality of your life. Every building, every fence, every stock, every change of job will be a small step towards success or death. But this is not a board game. There is no set build order, no reinforcements, no overall enemy strength and no win condition. Everything that can happen, will happen, and everything you do will matter. But you don't have to worry about that, because this game is about survival. It has a very simple and easy to use interface with only the bare minimum of text. Buttons and a compass are the only major UI elements. You only need to read the status of your village, and use a feature called "decisions". This game is designed to be played by anyone, regardless of age, while the game itself is written in such a way that not even a toddler can become confused or lost. This game should be accessible to everyone, while at the same time providing the challenges of a challenging game. Black Forest is a survival/building game put you in charge of a village in a fantasy version of the dark and dangerous Black Forest in medieval Germany. The game is set in a village in the Black Forest, in medieval Germany. Hunger, thirst, heat, cold, lack of sleep, and many other simple things are the enemies of the villagers. Not everyone can survive in the Black Forest, and many of them do not survive. The game is only about survival. But if you have to, you can construct buildings, watchtowers and walls that will allow you to defend your village, harvesting food and maintaining it. Gameplay Similar to a real-time-strategy (RTS) or city-building game, you build and repair houses, fences, walls, watchtowers and others in your village, using resources and labour. The peasants of the village are your pool of labour, you can send them to gather resources, plant and harvest fields, construct buildings and so on. Come nightfall, everything changes.
